

Please tell us more about how your health has been affected.

Every headache,
Every cough,
Every snuffle, or sneeze
Every scab, every bump, or little bruise, I take heed.

Each thing, each moment analyzed closely.
Is this a new symptom, come let me look at that closely.

Should I ask for a CT, MRI, a CBC or just buy you a French fry?

We have a good prognosis! The statistics are in our favor. Can I get that written on paper? You see my heart has not gotten the message.

scans will put it at ease. Maybe in a few years I will not take your temp if you sneeze. Maybe just maybe It will always be; maybe this has forever changed me.

ive extra kisses and extra hugs, I treasure little moments that before I might have shrugged. I tell you I love you with extra purpose and meaning.

Take the good with the bad is what people always say. So I'll take a few extra snuggles today.

~Ramblings of a Brain Tumor mommy; Crystal Barnes~